AVID for Higher Education Workshop Series The Intersection of Equity and Pedagogy (Part 2): Changing the Narrative for Diverse College Students

Date: Friday, January 31, 2020
Location: Costa Mesa, California

AVID for Higher Education (AHE), in collaboration with and the Community College Equity Assessment Lab (CCEAL), will provide a workshop focused on how to cultivate a positive institutional culture, improve instructional practices, and systems that help diverse learners succeed. This workshop will expand on Part 1 information that was delivered by Dr. Frank Harris and Yvonne Ortiz. However, you do not have to attend Part 1 to engage in this workshop.

We will explore a variety of topics and questions, including:

1. How can higher education cultivate success for diverse students?
2. What are the positive elements of institutional culture to help all students succeed?
What is my role in this effort?
3. How do I act upon equity-minded practices that promote diverse student success and create a plan for sustainability?

Statewide Movement to Support More Financial Aid for Community College Students Gains Momentum California Community Colleges

One of the bills sponsored by the California Community College Chancellor's Office, SB 291 (Leyva), is currently awaiting a hearing in the Assembly Higher Education Committee. If passed, the bill would establish the "California Community College Student Financial Aid Program" to provide need-based grant awards to eligible community college students. These need-based awards are designed to address the total cost of attendance, including non-tuition expenses like textbooks, housing, food and transportation. Read More

The California Regional Collaborative is a regional network of 2- and 4- year institutions, working together towards improving overall outcomes in STEM higher education, and in particular for students and faculty from underrepresented groups.

We work with graduate students and other potential “future faculty” from groups that are underrepresented in academia to address the need to increase diversity in our regional colleges to better reflect the diversity of our students. These trainees will support teaching efforts, education research initiatives, and curriculum development needs in collaboration with their 2- year internship site. In addition, regional programming such as webinars, symposiums, conferences, panels, and other events supports both current faculty along with future faculty. This will be coupled with an assessment plan to understand regional needs and assess the impact of our work.
